COMPRE STRIKES £200M SHIELD FOR MYSTERY SYNDICATE

Bespoke Adverse Development Cover Locks In Four Years of Risk – With an Eye on Renewal

Compre has struck a £200 million adverse development cover with an undisclosed Lloyd's syndicate, throwing a protective net over four years of accumulated risk – 2023 and all years prior.

The Bermudian legacy specialist moved to shore up a multi-line book of property, casualty and assumed reinsurance business, in what market watchers are calling a calculated strike against lingering claims volatility rather than a retreat from risk.

The syndicate keeps its claims team, assets and investment income. What it gains is certainty.
